

Joyce Dolbec '96

Joyce Dolbec's expertise and volunteerism has benefited women and families, her local community, the state of Rhode Island, and numerous organizations. Today we honor Joyce for her long-time service to Leadership Rhode Island.

Joyce is a wife, mother and grandmother; a registered nurse and cancer survivor; and a health and literacy consultant. She has degrees in Psychology and Women's Studies, as well as Adult Education, focusing on Health Promotions, Literacy and Urban Issues. Joyce brings her wealth of experience to bear in all her community service. Her health fairs and training programs are held everywhere from soup kitchens to hotels to the State House.

In the ten years since Joyce graduated from LRI, she has been a consistent and valued volunteer. She has served on the Program Committee, on the Alumni Council as Pi Class Rep, and most recently on the 25th Anniversary Committee. Additionally, Joyce spearheaded the effort to revive the Alumni Holiday Drive, which raises funds and gathers gifts for needy Rhode Island teens.

Joyce has also been appointed to the Small Business Advisory Board, RI Commission on Women (most recently as chair), Office of Women's Health Advisory Committee, RI Civil Rights Roundtable, and others. All the groups who work with Joyce value her sense of humor, her hard work and her genuine care for others.
